PPC Group: Sixteen distinctions from the international organization Extel for 2026

- Top distinction as "Most Honored Company" in Large-Cap

For one more year, PPC Group won significant distinctions in the annual "Emerging EMEA Executive Team" survey of the internationally recognized organization Extel, specializing in data analysis and providing information to the investment community globally.

According to this year's results, PPC Group emerged as one of the "Most Honored Companies" of the sector, winning first place in the Large-Cap EMEA (Europe, Middle East & Africa) category and second place in the general ranking (Overall) of Utilities companies, confirming its leading position in the wider region.

The distinctions highlight the trust of the international investment community in the strategic choices of the Management, demonstrating the successful transformation taking place in PPC, with a vision to be a modern, Powertech Group with a strong footprint in Central and Southeast Europe. It is the result of the commitment to continuous improvement and dedication to the Group's strategic plan, financial strategy, and communication with the investment community.

In more detail, the Chairman & CEO of PPC Group, Georgios Stassis, was ranked first in the Best CEO category in all subcategories (Combined & Sell-Side / Overall & Large-Cap), the Group Chief Financial Officer, Konstantinos Alexandridis, won first place in the Combined/Large-Cap and Sell-Side/Large-Cap categories, as well as second place in the general ranking (Combined/Overall). At the same time, the Chief Investor Relations Officer, Ioannis Stefos, won second place in three categories (Combined/Large-Cap, Sell-Side/Overall, Sell-Side/Large-Cap), while the Group's Investor Relations team won second place in the Combined/Large-Cap, Sell-Side/Overall, and Sell-Side/Large-Cap categories, and third place in the Combined/Overall category.

In this year's annual "Emerging EMEA Executive Team" survey of the Extel organization, more than 450 investment professionals from 247 international financial services companies participated. More than 600 executives and 400 companies were nominated for distinction, based on criteria such as credibility, communication, financial management, capital allocation, as well as the quality of their relations with the investment community.
